A New Church For Northfield

Architect's drawing of the proposed new home for the Trinitarian Congregational Church. The tentative plans submitted by the architect, which were enthusiastically endorsed at a recent meeting of the congregation, provide for a three-step building schedule. Under this arrangement construction of the auditorium can begin as soon as funds are available and building conditions are favorable.

The campaign for funds was inaugurated a year ago and has already produced more than $25,000. The generosity of summer residents and out-of-town Northfield Schools alumni has helped to swell the fund. The goal has been set at $100,000 within a five-year period.

Inn Will Open Here

The Press is informed that Northfield will have further facilities for caring for the traveling public in the way of an inn, which will be officially opened soon. Excellent rooms will be provided with all modern facilities and meals will be served in an attractive dining room. Prices will be reasonable and the inn will cater to an exclusive clientele who appreciate the services. Further announcement will be made in these columns later.

Broke The Bank

Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Fowler, both 70 years of age and residents of Glenn Rock, N. J. were the winners of $7,440 on the radio program "Break the Bank" on a radio network on Friday, August 1st. They answered all questions correctly which were presented to them and took the "jackpot" which had not been reduced since May last. Both are interested in religious endeavor and in the work of underprivileged children. Accepting the money, they put it in the bank and they left their home to attend the recent General Conference held in Northfield. They had a wonderful experience here and remained throughout the entire conference. Asked what they would do with the money, they said it would be devoted to the work in which they are interested. Northfield impressed them very much and they hope to return another year even without a "jackpot".

James McGinn

James McGinn died Tuesday, August 5, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Russell, of Northfield Farms. He was 87 years of age, born in Scotland, and came to America 57 years ago. He resided in Boston for thirty years, being employed by a chemical company. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Russel and Mrs. Guy Minner, of Brattleboro; a son, James McGinn, of Medford. There are five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. Funeral services were held at Kidder's Funeral Parlors and burial

Made Goodly Sum

The recent fair and supper of the Women's Guild of the Congregational Church netted a total of $470 which will be turned over to the new church building fund. The sales were as follows: Fancy work table, $126; china, glass and art table, $53.01; food table, $48.70; books, odds and ends, $26; flower table, $25; wishing well, $14.05; grab bag, $5.56; jeep rides, $9.37; punch, $3; a gift, $25. The supper netted $135. The fair held last Friday was well attended and proved very successful despite the rain and storm.

Lucky O. Clapp observed his 83rd birthday this week and last Sunday was given a surprise party by a large delegation of Grange members at his home on South Main Street. He received many gifts and a large birthday cake. Refreshments were served. Mr. Clapp is a past master of the Grange and has been interested in its activities for the past forty years.

Is Offered For Sale

What is probably the largest and finest home in Northfield is being offered for sale, according to a report to this newspaper. The place is located one mile from the center of Northfield to the east and commands a most magnificent view of the countryside. It is secluded, yet easily reached, and in its day was known as the Ropes property now occupied by Mott and Jessie Guhse.

There are three floors in the house, many bedrooms and several baths, but the first floor, which has a large living room, library, dining room with carved cherry panels, fireplaces, etc., is very attractive. There are enclosed porches, gardens, lawns, which are inviting. A large barn and servants' quarters are provided. The place has its own water supply.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Guhse have conducted an antique business of most unusual glass and china wares, accommodated many overnight guests and also bred a number of pedigreed cocker spaniels. Should a sale be effected, it is not known what the present occupants will do but it is hoped that they will continue their pleasant relations with this community.

There is considerable sickness in the community, especially among our children, and our physicians and nurses are in demand. There is something about the unusual weather and its humidity that gets us all down.

Great Day Coming

Under an initiative petition filed last week by the Massachusetts Social Security Association, Inc., it is proposed that all persons over 60 years of age in the state receive an annual pension of $600. The petitions thus far received duly signed must go now to the Attorney General for approval before submission to the Secretary of State. Well, it listens well, but doesn't sound so good. Six hundred dollars a year at 60—all in favor say "aye." Many in Northfield will join in the chorus.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Bolton, of West Northfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Ann Bolton, to Edward Bagg Snow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Snow, of Bernardston. The wedding will take place on October 4. Miss Bolton is a graduate of Northfield High School and has been engaged in business in Springfield and Brattleboro. Mr. Snow is a graduate of Greenfield High and spent two and a half years in the Army Medical Corps. He is engaged in business in Bernardston.

Dr. Walter Jones, of Providence, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Ellis E. Jones, of Vernon. He returned home with his son, Walter, Jr., who has been spending the summer with his grandparents.

Freezes, Stores 385 Pounds of Food

Homemakers with freezers not only enjoy a plentiful reserve of delicious fresh food, but are able to serve many fruits and vegetables out of regular season. An additional advantage is that freezing conserves vitamins and minerals important to the family health. Illustrated, with professional model, is the new International Harvester 11-cubic-foot freezer now on display.

Food Freezer Display

Wide current interest in freezing as a means of preserving fresh foods has been bringing crowds to Sheldon's on Birnam Road where the new International Harvester Freezer is on display.

There isn't an unlimited supply of the freezers as yet, but prompt delivery can be made of those sold at once.

The model on display is an 11-cubic-foot chest type, which both freezes and stores, and holds approximately 385 pounds of food at a time. The freezer is handsomely designed, with smooth, rounded corners free of cracks and crevices that would complicate housekeeping. The big single lid is a "floating" type, spring counter balanced, which requires no effort to lift and cannot slam shut.

Especially interesting to visitors is the wide, smooth, moulded-rubber space all around the top of the freezing and storage compartment. It is entirely free of screws or other fastenings, and provides convenient shelf room when food is being placed in or taken from the cabinet.

Also interesting is the method by which cold is conserved and used for both freezing and storage, the way in which the spun-glass insulation is vacuum protected, and the silence of the refrigerating unit.

"Women tell us they prefer to preserve foods by freezing because it is easier and preserves the vitamins and important to their families' health." The idea of a big reserve supply of out-of-season fruit and vegetables appeals to them, too. It's fun to be able to prepare a fresh strawberry shortcake in the dead of winter, for instance.

The 11-cubic-foot International Harvester Freezer is to be followed soon by freezers of smaller capacity and upright refrigerators of both conventional and two-temperature design. All are produced in the company's big new refrigeration plant at Evansville, Ind., recently acquired by purchase from the R.F.C.

Announce Service Cost

Local depositors in the Winchester National Bank have received a circular announcing a new schedule of costs for checking services effective September 1. No minimum balances will be required and the charges will be based on the actual services used. There will be two plans offered, one for individuals with limited accounts and another for business concerns. At any rate the checks you issue will cost you eight and a half cents. A bank to operate safely and profitably must have sufficient income and the cost must be borne by those who use its services.

Received Many Friends

Miss Mildred A. Miller, of New York, well known artist, who erected a studio on the lot on Pine Street opposite the Historical Museum, tendered an open house to many friends last Sunday afternoon. Much admiration was expressed for the beauty of the little bungalow and a showing of her paintings was much appreciated. Refreshments were served on the lawn and a well known photographer recorded the event with a camera.

Museum Attracts Crowd

The museum of the Historical Society on Pine Street which was open last Sunday afternoon drew a very large number of visitors. President Miss Elsie Scott and Curator Joseph R. Colton, aided by a number of volunteers, escorted the visitors and many summer folk took advantage. All were much interested in the exhibit of the "one-horse shay," a recent acquisition. It was the vehicle of Dr. Stratton, an early physician of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Pearsall and family are spending their vacation at the summer home of his mother on Lake Champlain.

Honeymoon Here

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duncan were married in Washington on Thursday, July 31, and they came to Northfield to spend their honeymoon here. Many friends greeted them for "Charles" is a graduate of Mount Hermon School and his father is Todd Duncan, the well known singer whose voice has been often heard here because of his admiration for the Northfield schools. Charles graduated from Hermon in 1942, then from Dartmouth College, graduating in 1947. During the war he was an ensign in the Navy.

The will of the late Mrs. Anna J. Hodous, of this town, who died July 12, was filed recently in Probate Court and leaves her estate to her husband, Lewis Hodous, whom she named as executor.

The annual meeting of the Rustic Ridge Association, Inc., was held Tuesday afternoon, August 12, at the summer home of Miss Minnie Erb on Ledgewood Way. The attractive home and its spacious lawns were the mecca for the largest attendance of property owners and guests for several years.

President Rev. Dr. Arthur L. Berger presided and reports were presented from the various committees, showing that much had been accomplished and that the organization was in a good financial position. The report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand of $999.42 which, however, included unexpended appropriations of $471.35. Plans authorized for the coming year include the improvement of roads by sections on a permanent basis, the placing of street signs and a directory of names at each intersection. Suggestions were approved to improve the supply of water and to better the electric and telephone service. Resolutions were passed commending the success of the General Conference and one of appreciation to the treasurer for his years of faithful devotion. Fire hazards, brush, rubbish, mosquitoes and trees were referred to the directors for attention.

An eloquent memorial tribute was paid to those whose death had claimed during the year by Dr. Holloway. After the gathering had adjourned there followed a social and acquaintance hours with refreshments.

The annual election by ballot of property owners resulted as follows:

TELEPHONE SERVICE TO RURAL NEW ENGLAND

We're making real progress on our rural telephone program these days. We began the year installing new telephones at the rate of 1000 a month—and we're stepping this up as more and more new central office equipment comes to New England.

It's an intensive, behind-the-scenes job to make all these installations possible. Skilled crews are hard at work stringing miles of wire and cable and making additions to practically all our central offices. In the days ahead, this construction work will make possible improvements in service too—such as fewer people on party lines.

We're bringing more and better telephone service to rural New England as fast as we can get it here.
